To Whom It May Concern

I am only too glad to offer this Letter of Recommendation for Carole O’Riordan and her interior design firm, Studio Divo.

Carole and I became acquainted about two years ago when her firm was hired to design the interior finish details for a custom home we had designed for a mutual client. During this two year period, Carole and her staff have not only proven to be exceedingly talented in the design field, but the courteous manner and willingness to “go the extra mile” has made her team an absolute pleasure to work with. Throughout the entire design phase, there has not been a single issue which proved insurmountable to Carole. At all times, she has made her services available to any member of the design team and has been able to meet all time and budgetary limits placed upon her.

Beyond her impeccably professional demeanor, I am truly blessed to have worked on a project with such a pleasant and obliging individual. I am happy to recommend Carole for any position she may apply for. She has always proven to be a loyal and trustworthy designer, demonstrating both the qualities of leadership and the ability to organize any project to the highest caliber.

Thanking you for your attention.
